This is a Service Agreement (“agreement”) between Kimberly Blaker Features Service (“KBFS”) and the undersigned (“Client”). KBFS is engaged in the service of syndicating written articles to print and online publications.

Database Access and Article Publication

Client agrees to enter KBFS articles database only for purposes of reviewing articles for consideration of publishing. Client shall not allow access to database by anyone that is not employed by Client publication. Client shall not allow access to database by employees of Client publication without first submitting name to KBFS to add to Client record.

Client shall only publish an article upon written (email, fax, or regular mail) permission from KBFS.

Terms of Use

Client agrees not to rent, sell, provide or otherwise dispose of any manuscript provided by KBFS with the exception of one time print rights in the publication listed below as per this agreement.

Payment

Client agrees to pay KBFS for services within thirty (30) days of publication, payable to “Kimberly Blaker.” Accounts sixty (60) days past due are subject to loss of access to KBFS database and to use of KBFS articles. No further notice shall be required. Client shall still be liable for fees incurred for articles that have been published by Client and/or will be published by Client.

Client agrees to mail a tear sheet of each published article or a copy of the edition in which it appears to KBFS.

This agreement constitutes the entire understanding and agreement between the parties; it is subject to cancellation only as provided above and it may not be altered or varied by oral agreement or representatives of any kind.
